The Honorable Joseph J. Solomon, Jr.
Rhode Island House of Representatives
House Corporations Committee
(Submitted electronically HouseCorporations@rilegislature.gov)

Dear Chair Solomon Jr. and Members of the Committee:

Please accept the Rhode Island Health Center Association's letter of support for House Bill 7838, which would allow limited licensing for foreign-trained dental health professionals. Rhode Island. Many residents, particularly those in underserved and low-income communities, adults with Medicaid, and the uninsured, continue to face significant barriers to accessing dental healthcare. This legislation represents an important and timely step toward addressing dental workforce shortages that contribute to disparities in access to care.

From 2023 to 2024, Rhode Island's eight community health centers experienced an increase of 13,000 additional patients and 19,000 additional visits. This surge underscores both the growing demand for services and the essential role these providers play for both commercially and publicly insured patients. A strong workforce is critical to ensuring that health centers can meet the dental care needs of the patients and communities they serve.

Many foreign-trained dental professionals complete rigorous educational training and bring valuable clinical experience. Their cultural competence, language skills, and adaptability can enhance patient trust and improve health outcomes, especially in communities where cultural understanding is critical to care delivery.

House Bill 7838 would establish safeguards to ensure high professional standards for foreign-trained individuals, including graduation from reputable dental institutions, successful completion of a board-approved examination, and practice under the supervision of a licensed dentist. These measures appropriately balance the need to expand access to care with the responsibility to uphold the standards of Rhode Island's dental profession, while supporting growing patient demand in community health centers.

For patients, the legislation can lead to earlier diagnosis, improved management of chronic conditions, and reduced reliance on emergency departments for preventable dental issues.

For community health centers, limited licensing strengthens workforce capacity, improves continuity of care, and supports team-based models essential to serving high-need populations.

Rhode Island has already taken similar steps in other areas of healthcare. In 2025, legislation supporting licensure pathways for foreign-trained physicians was signed into law, reflecting the state's broader commitment to responsibly integrating internationally trained healthcare professionals into the workforce.

Together, these efforts demonstrate that Rhode Island can uphold high standards while addressing urgent workforce needs.

For these reasons, we respectfully urge your support for House Bill 7838.

Sincerely,

M. Campbell
