

Against H 7531 on House Committee on Environment Agenda for March 25, 2026

This bill totally repeals the landmark Act on Climate which those in favor of healthier, renewable and much less expensive sources of power proudly passed in 2021 (years after similar bills in our neighboring states, but better late than never).

We cannot control all the damage done to various green energy projects and funding for them at the Federal level. But we can control what happens at the state level. The war in Iran undertaken by our current POTUS insures that there will be less oil for months if not years to come. Therefore, this would obviously not be a time to consider cutting back on each and every effort to develop all possible renewable sources of energy. Repealing the hard won Act on Climate would be a tragic setback for such efforts with devastating effects on our children, their children and beyond.

Sincerely,
Jessie Kingston, retired, Providence