

This email is to show my support for H5534. Small farms, which make up most farms in Rhode Island, should receive the same tax benefits as larger farms in the state. Small farms are small businesses that add multifaceted benefits to our state, including increased access to local fruits and vegetables, natural stormwater management, increased biological diversity and pollinator protection, and strengthening our local economy.

Best,
Dawn King (Providence)

--

 BROWN Institute at Brown for Environment & Society	M. Dawn King PhD (she/her/they) Deputy Dean of the College for Curriculum Senior Lecturer in Environment and Society University Hall, Room 206 Brown University, Campus Box 1943 Click here to book an office hour slot Institute at Brown for Environment and Society Sign up for the IBES Community Newsletter
--	---