RE: Support for House Bill 7968

The American Cancer Society Cancer Action network (ACS CAN) is the non-partisan, non-profit advocacy affiliate of the American Cancer Society. We advocate for evidence-based public policies to reduce the cancer burden for everyone. I would like to thank the Committee for the opportunity to provide testimony in support of House Bill 7968.

ACS CAN strongly supports policies at the national, state, and local levels that increase access to job-protected paid family and medical leave that can be used for cancer treatments, survivorship care, and caregiving as well as other illnesses. We thank the Committee and the General Assembly for your work in recent years to increase benefits and expand eligibility for Temporary Disability Insurance (TDI) and Temporary Caregiver Insurance (TCI). House Bill 7968 will build on the progress made by further expanding the time an individual may collect paid family leave benefits, expanding eligibility to include grandchildren and care recipients, and providing self-employed Rhode Islanders the opportunity to opt-in.

ACS CAN believes that paid family and medical leave policies are critical to the unique needs of cancer patients, survivors, and caregivers. All working cancer patients, survivors, and caregivers should have access to paid family and medical leave that allows them to take time off work to attend to their own or a loved one's care without losing their job or income.

Between 2017-2021, ACS CAN conducted multiple surveys to explore the impact of paid family and medical leave on cancer patients, survivors and caregivers.<sup>1</sup> Results showed that access to paid medical/family leave makes an important difference for cancer patients, survivors and their caregivers; contributing to positive outcomes like being able to complete treatment, manage symptoms and side effects and afford treatments.

The survey results also showed that, access to paid leave is a health equity issue. Respondents who reported having issues with cancer/caregiving and their job – including the quality of their work suffering, having to take two or more days off work in a row, or having to leave work early – most often tended to be those in lower income households, those with lower levels of education, younger respondents, and those working in smaller companies. Additionally, those respondents who had paid medical/family leave were less likely to report experiencing problems related to financial pressures than those who did not have it.

About 1 in 4 employees (24 percent) in the private sector workforce have access to paid family leave and only two in five have access to short-term disability insurance through their jobs that allows them to receive partial pay while they recover from their own serious health issue.<sup>ii, iii</sup> People of color and those with lower incomes are less likely to have access to paid family medical leave. These groups of people are also disproportionately impacted by diseases like cancer - meaning the very patients who are more likely to need to use paid family and medical leave are the ones least likely to have access to it.

For the above reasons, ACS CAN strongly urges passage of House Bill 7968 to expand paid family leave in Rhode Island. Please feel free to contact ACS CAN's Rhode Island Government Relations Director, Ryan Timothy Strik, at ryan.strik@cancer.org or at (401) 259-1052 for any additional questions or information.

Thank you for your consideration.
