To whom it may concern,
I met Bryan in 2003,
I own a house on California Ave.
I found out that he was opening a Recovery house and I was so concerned but there has not been any issues since he has opened it. In 2016 he opened another one and still no issues.

To whom it may concern:

I own a business and a residents next to Brian Recovery in Providence, the residents of the Recovery house are always pleasant when visiting my business, very respectful, and always helping with keeping not only there property clean but help keeping the community clean. they shovel snow for many neighbors and do this free we have never had a problem with them. When we first heard it to be a recovery house we were concerned but to no avail never any issues.
