Re: Support H7947 – Ensure Third-Party Payments Count Toward Patients Out-of-Pocket Costs

Dear Chair Donovan and Members of the Health and Human Services Committee:

The HIV+Hepatitis Policy Institute is a national organization promoting quality and affordable healthcare for people living with or at risk of HIV, hepatitis, and other serious and chronic health conditions. We strongly support House Bill 7947 which ensures that health insurers accept and count payments made on behalf of patients toward their deductibles and out-of-pocket maximums.

The Harmful Impact of Copay Accumulators

Copay accumulators are harmful policies increasingly implemented by insurers, employers, and pharmacy benefit managers (PBMs). Under these policies, copay assistance provided by drug manufacturers does not count toward patients' cost-sharing obligations, such as deductibles and out-of-pocket maximums. While patients can initially use the assistance to afford their medications, they often face unexpected and substantial costs later in the year when the assistance runs out, leaving them unable to pay for their prescriptions.

According to The AIDS Institute's review of plan documents, in Rhode Island, 4 out of 8 health plans offered in the individual marketplace for 2026 do not count copay assistance toward patients' cost-sharing obligations. This practice leaves patients in a precarious situation: insurers collect the manufacturer's copay assistance, but the patient receives no credit toward their deductible or out-of-pocket maximum. Later, when patients return to refill their medications, they are often hit with unaffordable copays effectively forcing them to pay twice. This "double-dipping" practice unfairly burdens patients and jeopardizes their ability to adhere to life-sustaining treatments.

Why House Bill 7947 Is Essential

By passing H7947, Rhode Island will join 26 other states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico in protecting consumers purchasing insurance on the private market. This legislation ensures that copay assistance counts toward cost-sharing obligations, preventing patients from facing insurmountable financial barriers to their medications.

For people with HIV, hepatitis, and other chronic conditions, reliable access to medication is critical. Individuals with HIV and hepatitis B require lifelong drug regimens, while those with hepatitis C can be cured in as little as 8 to 12 weeks. Yet high deductibles and cost-sharing requirements often make these treatments unaffordable, even for insured patients. Copay assistance is a lifeline, particularly in today's challenging economic climate, where inflation and rising costs are straining household budgets.

When patients are forced to forego their medications due to high costs, the consequences are severe, not just for individual health outcomes, but also for public health and healthcare system costs. Policies that limit access to copay assistance exacerbate these challenges, disproportionately affecting those who are already vulnerable. House Bill 7947 represents an essential safeguard against harmful insurer practices, ensuring equitable access to life-saving treatments for Rhode Islanders. For these reasons, we respectfully urge you to support this legislation.
