Dear Chair Britto and Members of the Committee,

My name is Pat Garofalo, and I am the director of state and local policy at the American Economic Liberties Project, a research and advocacy organization dedicated to reducing the power dominant corporations wield over our economy and democracy, in pursuit of economic liberty for all. I write to offer our support for the Fair Price Grocery Agenda, comprised of S2642, S2643, and S2644.

The U.S. has one-third fewer grocery stores today than it did 25 years ago. It's no coincidence that during that time there has been a substantial rise in consolidation within the food retail sector at every level: national, state, metro area, and county.

This consolidation has given dominant corporations within the food sector – including suppliers, large grocers, and big box stores – pervasive pricing power, which, when combined with general inflationary pressures, has led to increasing food costs and limited shopping options for Rhode Island families. To that point, between 2020 and 2024, food prices rose by nearly 25 percent, outpacing the overall Consumer Price Index.

The Fair Price Grocery Agenda begins to address imbalances caused by consolidation by: 1) ensuring that dominant grocers can't monopolize local markets through restrictive contracts (S2644); 2) re-setting the playing field between suppliers, dominant grocers, and smaller and medium-sized grocers to ensure the latter can compete fairly on price and aren't boxed out of the market by anti-competitive practices and agreements (S2642), and 3) ensuring that all customers have access to bona fide sale and discount prices (S2643).

Collectively, these bills will eliminate several anti-competitive tactics used by dominant grocers and suppliers to prevent small- and medium-sized grocers from accessing new markets, ultimately denying your constituents access to fresh, reasonably priced groceries.

There is no magic bullet or single piece of legislation that can correct decades of failed antitrust and consumer protection policy across the economy, or in the grocery sector specifically. But the Fair Price Grocery Agenda is a very good down payment on that much-needed effort.

Thank you for your time,

Pat Garofalo
